TAXATION OF SMALL INCORPORATED BUSINESSES

In December the Chancellor announced that he would take steps to prevent abuse of the low rates of tax enjoyed by small Limited Companies. Whereas such steps have been included in this Budget they are not nearly as bad as had been originally feared. These proposals come into force on the 1st April 2004 and will affect Companies with annual taxable profits below £50,000 paying dividends to "non corporate Shareholders"

The table below outlines the tax payable by a Sole Trader, a Limited Company under the old rules and a Limited Company under the new rules assuming the Company distributes all its profits and using the new rates of tax and allowances.

	Sole Trader	Limited Company
		New Rules	Old Rules
Profits of £15,000	£2834.10	£1983.64	£83.64
Profits of £20,000	£4334.10	£2933.64	£1271.14
Profits of £25,000	£5834.10	£3883.64	£2458.64
Profits of £55,000	£16930.55	£12726.51	£12726.51

Tax savings through incorporation remain but at lower levels.
